Genus of 200 or more species. Vigorous, twining climber that will easily and quickly cover any suitable support. Bears an abundance of strongly fragrant distinctive pink-budded, starry white flowers. Grow in fertile, well-drained soil. Plant near a patio or window where the fragrance can be enjoyed. Grows well in all areas, except those that experience really severe frost. Needs regular watering throughout the year. Shelter from strong winds and prune back lightly after flowering to keep tidy. Propagate by taking semi-ripe cuttings in Autumn. Pests and diseases: aphids and mealy bugs.
